

Brother MFCJ450 Wireless Printer Review

The Brother MFCJ450 wireless printer is definitely the best one in this series so far, offering a number of easy to use features and a hassle-free user experience. While a lot of wireless printers have an overly complicated design, this one is perfect for those who have never used one of these devices before.

Design

One of the most noticeable and attractive exterior features of this printer is its brightly colored LCD display, complete with multiple status symbols to let you know what the status of your ink levels are at any given time, so you will know when it is time to buy new cartridges for it. This printer also displays the current time as well as the status of the printer and Wi-Fi connectivity. Because this printer functions as a standalone, you will be able to use the printer's onboard navigation to set everything up before it is even connected to your computer.

Print Quality

The overall print quality of this Brother printer is quite impressive and far superior to that of its predecessors. All of the pictures and text that are printed from this wireless device are crisp and clear with absolutely no blur or washed out colors. This printer has a 'low print quality' setting, so you can conserve ink, and it still produces great results. The print speed with this printer is also very impressive; it is able to print 12 pages per minute using black ink and 10 pages per minute with colored. There is also a duplex or two-sided printing feature that you can use to get the most out of your paper.

Scanner

The scanner on this printer has a flat-bed design and works very well when converting paper documents to digital files. This is an outstanding feature for those who like to keep a digital copy of physical documents as a backup, and it is fast with scanning so you don't have to wait very long at all for the conversion process to finish. All scans with this printer are clear and they do not lose any of their original quality.

Document Feeder

The document feeder is excellent for scanning multiple documents quickly. Teachers will find this feature to be of particular use, because with the right software it is possible to create multiple choice papers as well as questionnaires, and the scanner marks all of the papers very fast. This feature is typically reserved for larger commercial printers, so it is unique as well as highly useful for certain people.

Support

Those who purchase this Brother printer will get a 1 year limited warranty as well as call assistance and online help for the entire life of the product, which is more than you will get with a lot of modern printers.

Conclusion

The Brother MFCJ450 wireless printer is a great overall investment for lots of different people, as it has a myriad of features and functions well on all levels. The sheer speed of this printer as well as its easy-to-use interface and the quality of its reproductions makes it ideal for both home and office use.